PERHAPS A SHOUT. . .

Within but a few days of a brief book review in 115 about "John B. Connally--Portrait In Power", we read Joseph Alsop, brother of the deceased co-columnist, Stewart:

"In the time when the United States truly led the West, before the pygmies took over, it used to be a vast relief to come back to Washington. You would have talked endlessly to worried and impotent men abroad. You would find in Washington concerned but potent men, weighing serious courses of action."

The 115 column on the book ended, not so much in awe of Connally, but in the lack of men of his ability:

"The book is not an apologetic for Connally, nor is this brief comment. Hardly. But it is a book worth reading about a career stymied in the vicious viscosity of mistrust out of Watergate and destroyed in the machinations of politics going leaderless the rest of this decade."

NOW-NOW-NOW

The Alsop brothers, for the uninitiated in Central Texas, at one time was a cogent, canny team of writers who lived in Washington, knew its inner circles, not only in contemporaries, but in family connection to Teddy Roosevelt and a half century of political scions of central government.

Observers like these, large enough not to be unaware of the regions of this country which yielded up great men, are to be listened to when one says:

"In the former capital of the Western world, the pygmies now seem to reign supreme. Pygmy views on every subject are almost the only ones that are publicly heard. . . ."

He compares Henry Kissinger to the stature which brought this country through two world wars and into the 1960s at a peerless international level. Alsop is obviously an internationalist, which the nation has been until Vietnam drained the country, soured the majority and turned the Democratic Party isolationist.

He notes the U. S. may strip military units here to increase armaments to Israel, threatened once again by Arab war. The Soviet is determined to exploit Middle East discontent at the risk of war.

We note here that Joseph Alsop is heavy on military preparedness and was likely a "hawk" on Vietnam. But he also knows a lot about the Middle East and the Washington which deals with such a spectre of problems. And we doubt if he votes Republican.

What he sees is a spectre of the inconsequential hovering over the capital city: Greater concern for Rockefeller's gifting than the public service gifts he may bring to public office, albeit a mere vice presidency.

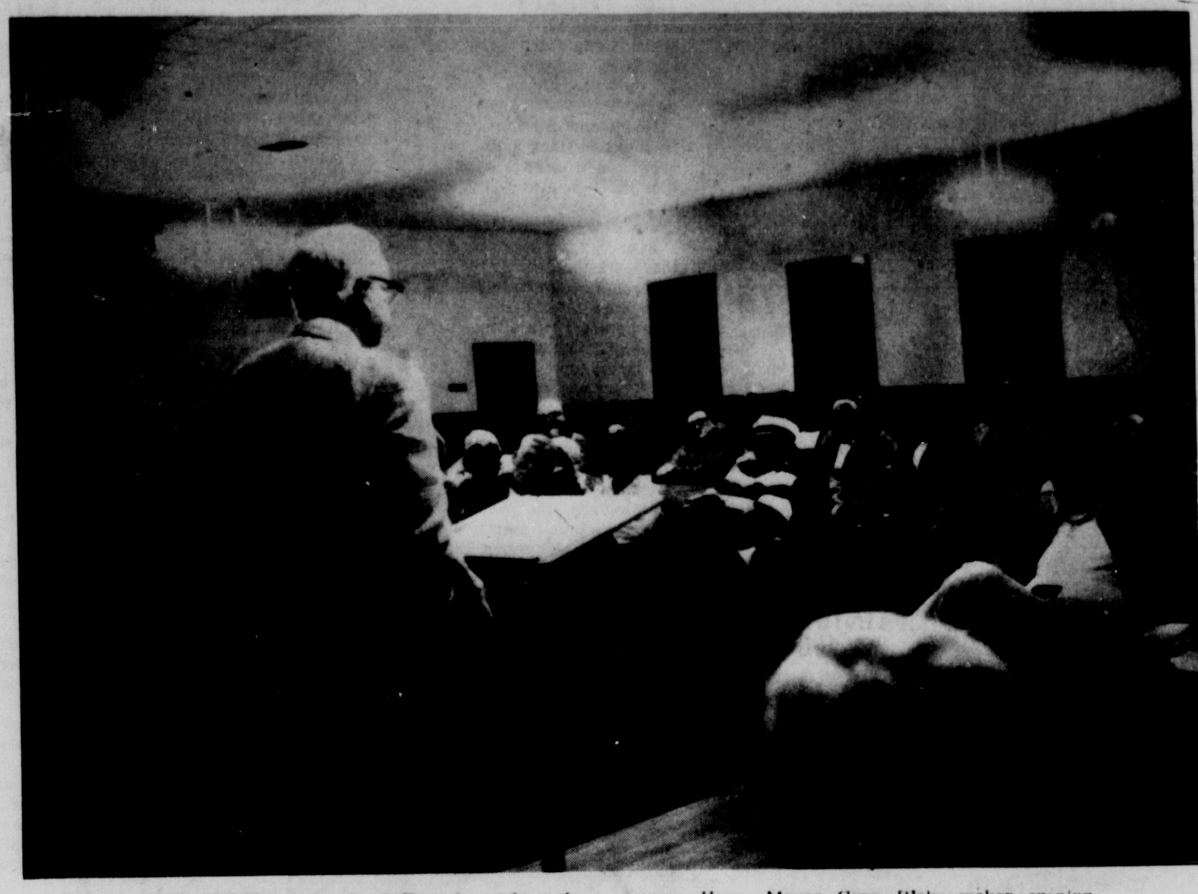
Integrity is important, honesty is important; goodness, if that may accompany ability, is important. But problems of a nation in its majority require men in their majority.

In a word: size. In manner, decisiveness, skill, training.

His address to "pygmy chatter" is an alarm, which we all should consider in the recent post-Watergate election. The villians are found out and have left in disgrace or stand before a jury dock. This orgy of mistrust must end, and even a lame duck Congress must begin to restore size to the dialogue between government and governed.

If Alsop's concern over pygmies and foreign affairs is not an echo, it may even be a shout to rouse us about the Middle East and inflation and about finding the response in men of stature.

These things we cannot do halfsized by the courtroom and inertia. It is not "pygmies" who fight our wars, diplomatic or domestic, but the best by all-round design we can muster.



A GOOD CROWD was on hand Thursday night at the Progressive Missionary Baptist Church to hear about plans for improving the community via the new Community Development Act, which will benefit Cameron. Here, Mayor Gene Blake makes opening remarks before A. W. McCullin explained the new program.

KUBIAK IS 'AVAILABLE' FOR SPEAKER

State Rep. Dan Kubiak announced that he is available as a candidate as speaker of the House of Representatives for the 64th session which convenes in January, 1975.

"My purpose is to try to unify the House," Kubiak said in a statement Friday. "I am proud of what we accomplished at the last session in the area of reform and no new taxes. I am especially proud of what we accomplished for education."

Kubiak said he has been approached by "about a dozen" representatives in the past three weeks who told him if he runs, they will withdraw from front-runner Bill Clayton's forces and support a Kubiak bid.

Clayton has claimed more than 100 pledges from the 150 member House.

Kubiak said he believes there are 55 representatives with no commitment to Clayton. "So," he said, "if we could take this base. . .plus those 12 that have approached me and then garner enough support from the others, it's feasible we could win this thing."

Kubiak took a verbal swipe at Clayton, saying "His record is one of being the chief lieutenant under. . .Gus Mutscher in the dictatorial days. . ."

Meeting Airs Community Plans

Progressive Missionary Baptist Church will pretty well filled Thursday night with west side residents, members of the city planning commission and city councilmen as a town meeting aired plans for spending funds from the new Community Development Act.

Cameron will receive a total of $492,000 over a six year period with $123,000 for the first three years, $82,000 for the fourth, $41,000 for the fifth and the total is yet unknown for the sixth year.

Plans for the first year's program were explained by A. W. McCullin, director of the Community Development Agency, which will administer the program.

McCullin said plans for the first year's program must be completed and submitted to the Housing and Urban Development agency by December 1. He encouraged input from citizens who will be affected by the program.

McCullin listed installation of sewage lines in "Alabama Town" in southwest Cameron as one of the three projects to be started during the first year. A survey of the area by the CDA showed 23 "paths" and 33 septic tanks, he added.

Difficult terrain in the area will necessitate installation of lift pumps and pressure lines, and the project will take $70,000 the first year, as basic lines are put in.

Second priority is a playground across from O. J. Thomas School, with $18,500 budgeted for that project. Plans call for a fenced in playground with two baseball diamonds, two basketball courts, and two tennis courts,plus an open play area.

McCullin said only four residences will be affected for relocation--one that is standard and three substandards. Plans also call for street paving work on Emancipation with other arterial streets paved in future years.

The third priority is demolition of 50 substandard houses, unoccupied buildings that are falling down or burned out. Some $10,000 has been budgeted for this effort. Surveys for the city's master plan compiled several years ago showed 375 such houses in the city.

Demolition of such buildings will make lots available for new home construction, instead of new constr.ction moving out from the city.

McCullin also touched on the west side's lac k of a business district and encouraged residents to decide where such a district could be designated.

In answer to a question, McCullin said building of a park would not affect zoning in the area.

Two Meetings Draw Interest For Cattlemen

Two meetings are open for Milam County cattle producers this week, one Monday to join a cattlemen's association, and another Wednesday to hear a discussion on the current cattle marketing situation.

The Monday meeting will start at 7 p.m. at Yoe High gym in Cameron and will give cattlemen an opportunity to form an organization joining the Independent Cattlemen's Association. All county producers, their wives, and others interested are urged to attend.

John E. Snell, Milam County Agent, said the Wednesday meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Yoe High School vocational agriculture department in Cameron.

Dr. Edward Uvacek, nationally known marketing specialist from Texas A&M University will discuss "What's happening? What are the factors which caused this situation? What is the future trend and outlook for the cattle business?"

There will be a question and answer period about the marketing situation.

Don Parks, area Extension economist, will discuss economic factors to consider in managing beef herds. This meeting should be of interest to all beef producers.

Area Roundup

Roll Bar Saves Students Lives

CALDWELL

A roll bar was credited with saving the lives of two University of Texas students when their small foreign car skidded on a graveled section of highway and went out of control then turned over. The students were taken to a Caldwell hospital and neither was seriously injured.

County Asks Disaster Relief

GEORGETOWN

Williamson County is one of 13 Texas counties President Ford is asked to declare a disaster area. Gov. Dolph Briscoe requested disaster relief funds following the "unprecedented rains, windstorms, and tornadoes" which struck the county. In Georgetown, a tornado levied an estimated damage of $500,000.

Hearne Lawyer Pleads Guilty

HEARNE

Hearne attorney Mathis M. Ottea Jr. pleaded guilty in U. S. District Court in Austin Oct. 30 on a charge that he failed to file an Internal Revenue tax return on $41,870 that he received in 1972. The lawyer told the court he had not filed a return since 1964. He faces a possible one-year sentence and a $10,000 fine.

City Seeks "Red Water" Relief

ROCKDALE

Rockdale is in the middle of a four-week experimental period tor a new chemical treatment of its water in an attempt to get rid of its age-old "red water" problem. Red water has long been the city's most nagging headache and is a nuisance in that it stains consumers' laundry and bathroom fixtures.

Request Made For Incorporation

WACO

A request has been made for the city of Waco to waive extra territorial jurisdicitons rights thus allowing "No Man's Land" to incorporate as a separate city. No Man's Land is located between Waco and the Bellmead city limits. The request was taken under advisement.

Belton Residents Diggjing Out

BELTON

Belton city officials, business people, and home owners are still digging their way out of the mud and water from Nolan Creek flood damage and estimates range from a few thousand dollars damage to total losses. Some businesses are having to start over, with nothing to start from but muddy walls.

Local Baptists Travel To Paris For Crusade

Satan may be alive and well on planet earth--but he's going to be hurting in France during the next couple of weeks.

Because a small army of Christians, including a group from Cameron, will set aside their daily occupations to "go to war for God in France."

The group from Cameron are from the First Baptist Church and left Wednesday for Paris. They include Rev. and Mrs. James Lafferty, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Brune, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Hensarling, Lynn Willy, Kim Harper, and Paula Barnett, who left Saturday.

They will travel throughout the city and the French countryside until their return to the states November 19.

The Texas residents will join other lay missionaries from Colorado, Oklahoma, Arkansas, California, and South Carolina to be part of the World Evangelism Foundation's answer to a group of French Baptists who sent the "Call from Macedonia" asking for help in a crusade for France.

Unlike missionaries appointed by the denomination and entirely supported by it, the Baptist lay people involved with World Evangelism Foundation pay all their own expenses, transportation, food, etc., to and from their fields of service.

For most in the group, the French crusade will be an entirely new experience. Typically American, the only knowledge most of them have of the French language is an eloquent smile.

There will be a few exceptions who can "parlez vous" with some skill.

More Screwworm Cases Awaiting Lab Reports

More suspected cases of screwworms have been submitted by Milam County producers in the wake of confirmation of six cases of the deadly parasite during recent weeks.

The cases are submitted for confirmation to the Mission lab, which has released sterile flies in the county to control the outbreak.

County Agent Bill McCutchen said current cool temperatures may slow down activity of the screwworms, but freezing weather is the only thing that will put a stop to the worms invasion.

Cattlemen are still urged to collect suspicious samples and send them to the Mission lab. Vials are available from veterinarians and from the county Extension office.

Patrol Reports Accidents

Accidents on Milam highways during September totaled 17, with 1 death and 4 injured, according to a monthly report by Sgt. Fred Hurst, Highway Patrol supervisor for this area.

This makes a total of 169 accidents with 4 deaths and 68 injured in Milam County during 1974.

School Board Meeting

The Cameron School Board will meet for a regular monthly session at 7 p.m. Monday (tonight) in the Ben Milam School office.

Looking For Solutions...

We agree with AFL-CIO's George Meany. The recent general election and turnout of some 43 Republicans was a vote against the recent White House "ins", not the Democratic "outs".

Democratic chairman Robert Strauss saw the sweep to a "veto-proof" Democratic Congress as a return to Democratic Party dominance.

People now await results on the problems of inflation and general indirection of the country. They are bored with, and long ago were, Watergate.

Voters are looking at problems, not political parties. And they are looking for problem solvers, who will be the ultimate winners in 1976.

By the country's 200th year, there will be about as much interest in party politics as there were political parties in Philadelphia that spring and early summer of 1776 when Jefferson declared and the colonies opted for independence.

There was plenty of philsophy, but no political parties in 1776.

Already Been There...

Looking for new challenge does not mean your Herald lets things drop going for the future.

We never know when something out of the past might do us some good.

That's why we have microfilm files as far back as 1895 and why we are proud of reaching the 115th year while modernizing everything in the place.

The way we look at newspapering is that continuity is important. We are able to know something about the unknown by the chance that somebody in our past may have already been there.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

PROFESSIONALS PROWL FOR FEDERAL 'HANDOUTS'

Senator Harry F. Byrd, Jr. (Va.) ". . . Each year the Government runs another massive deficit, and each year it thereby adds to inflation. . .

"Today I would like to report an expenditure of $4 million by the Smithsonian Institution, which is the U. S. contribution to an internaional campaign to preserve Nubian archeological monuments inundated by Nile River waters regulated by the Aswan Dam.

"The flooded temples are to be moved to the island of Philae . . .

"It was Russian money which built the Aswan Dam. I wonder why the American taxpayer is being asked to foot part of the bill for the archeological damage which this construction has caused. . .

"I want to stress that I am not opposed to the preservation of the temple, if the people of Egypt want them preserved as part of their heritage, I think private subscription to such an effort would be appropriate. I think support from the Soviet Union, or perhaps some of Egypt's oil-rich allies would be even more appropriate. . .

"Another aspect of Federal spending which deserves attention is the question of duplication of effort within the Government. . .

"The Department of Transportation funds numerous mass transit projects, yet provide $216,300 for a study of comparative costs of Bay Area--San Francisco region--transportation modes. This kind of procedure not only is potenially duplicative, but it encourages the practice of grant shopping. Some States and localities support professionals in Washington, who prowl the corridors of the bureaucracy looking for stray funds. The theory is that if you cannot get it in one department, you can get it in another. . .

"The National Endowment for the Arts, is an $82,609 grant to Associated Councils of the Arts, New York City, to fund a national survey on "the attitudes of the general public to the arts." . . .

"The average individual income tax return in the United States is $1,536. That means that to pay for the survey of public attitudes towards the arts, the entire Federal tax payment of 53 American families was used. . ."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Big spenders in congress appropriated the funds originally. The yeas and nays are buried in th e Congressional Record, and then it's too late.

Britain's Chinese Try To Keep Heads Down

By Keith Evans

LONDON

Reuter--Charlie Cheung didn't know a word of English when he sailed from Hong Kong, 40 years ago, to open a Chinese restaurant in the east end of London.

Despite this disadvantage, Charlie's restaurant prospered. Over the years it became the in place for London's smart set to eat, and the money rolled in.

After a while the prospering Cheung, now well known as an attentive, smiling host, opened a second London restaurant, then a third.

He is now rich enough to fly home to Hong Kong every year, more often if he feels like it. And, after 40 years on the London scene, he still doesn't speak English.

Like Charlie Cheung, there are thousands of Chinese restaurnats and take out food shop proprietors scattered about Britain who, despite their progress in business, are as isolated from British social life as if they were still in Hong Kong.

This peculiar state of the Chinese population here is beginning to worry some sociologists who have recently become aware that there are a lot more Chinese about than anybody had previously suspected.

Half a dozen researchers working for the national educational development trust and financed by such bodies as Manchester University have spent part of this year trying to find out more about them, and especially about what is happening to the children.

They have produced a report which paints a disturbing picture of a strangley isolated community-within-a-community, where everybody down to the smallest child lives a life of work, work, and more work. Charlie Cheung is typical of the pattern. This Chinese sub-economy, the researchers say, depends mainly on the take-out food business. Such establishments are booming in towns all over the country, and even in Europe. And this means more Chinese to run them, usually as family concerns.

"But what about the children?"

"Chinese children are invisible," says the research team. "Yet suddenly there is one of these invisible handfuls in every . . .school. . ."

"Undemanding -- until extremely provoked. Speaking little or no English, yet here to stay."

They estimate that about 3,000 Chinese children are coming to Britain--mainly from Hong Kong--every year and are likely to go on doing so for the next decade.

The report admits that nobody knows how many Chinese there are in Britain. There might be 100,000 or less, or many more. To most people here the numbers do not matter, for the Chinese are not a burden on the community--and they have the knack of keeping their heads down.

"They have got rather good at it," say researchers Anne Garvey and Brian Jackson, who wrote the report. "The British are reluctant even to acknowledge their existence."

The British do not want another "immigrant problem" and the Chinese are determined not to create one. They have so far stuck to the jobs they know in restaurants and take-away shops.

For most, Britain is uncharted territory, so they stick to well-worn rules. Do not approach the English, ask your own people first, stay out of trouble, be unobstrusive.

Garvey and Jackson quote some cherished British myths about the Chinese in t heir midst: That they are very rich, that they are well organized into tight little groups, that there is some sort of overall supervision, a kind of eastern Mafia which keeps the price of chop suey constant and controls the lives of the staff who work for them.

"We have found none of this true," say the researchers.

With rising costs all round, the great take-out food boom shows signs of waning. The Chinese are determined not to be dependent on the social services and to insulate themselves against poverty. So prosperity can become an obsession.

And the result? "They are lonely and isolated from the community they serve. They have few friends, nowhere to go to meet them, no free time to do so even if they could," say the researchers.

Ex-Ballerina To Wed Indian

By Michael Arkus

RIO DE JANEIRO

Reuter--A 64 year old former-ballerina, once praised by Anna Pavlova, is planning to go off into the Amazon jungle to marry a primitive Indian chiefton despite a Brazilian government ban.

Felicitas Barreto, who is also a writer, painter and anthropologist, told Reuter in an interview here of the love that had sprung up between her and Aparebe, Cacique (chieftain of the Apalai tribe, and of her plans to become his third wife.

Aparbe calls her Nuno (moon). When she left the tribe in Tumucumaque in Brazil's far north near the border with Surinam after a prolonged stay last year, he gave her a multi-colored toukan bird called oko-kuri (rainbow) and said: "Moon, take rainbow with you. Aparabe will be awaiting the return of both of you."

The trouble is that the Brazilian government does not look kindly on white women going off to marry native chieftains.

The president of the government's National Indian Foundation, General Ismarth Araujo de Oliveira, says Felicitas would be inverting official policy by integrating herself into the Indian way of life, whereas the Indians according to the rules should be integrating themselves into modern Brazil.

The ex-ballerina's marriage plans recall a similar case last year involving Mrs. Wynn Sargent, an American woman who was expelled by the Indonesian government after going through a marriage ceremony with a tribal chief in the remote Indonesian province of West Iran.

On leaving the tribe, whose language she has learned she planned to spend only seven weeks in Rio de Janeiro to arrange for the publication of her latest book "Requiem for the Indians". This reflects her fears that Brazil's original inhabitants may soon disappear if measures are not taken soon.

Her mother became ill and she stayed to look after her. Her mother died and now, in her apartment in the beach suburb of Copacabana, she prepares her return to Aparabe, while oko-kuri flies around the room.

"HONK!"

In East Prussia, it used to be considered bad for the geese for the housewife to spin on St. Matthew's Day.

Dear Cameron Herald Staff,

Thank you for letting our class come and visit the Cameron Herald. Our class really learned a lot and we also enjoyed it very much. It was very fascinating to see how a newspaper is printed.

Thank you again for such a wonderful time.

Providing adequate and dependable electric service to approximately two million people is a primary responsibility of Texas Power & Light Company.

Today, TP&L is meeting this responsibility despite shortages and rising costs of generating plant fuels and unprecedented high costs of building and operating the facilities necessary to produce and deliver electric power.

To prevent an electric power shortage in the future, TP&L has a number of major actions in progress . . .

. . . participating in exploration and drilling for natural gas and developing storage reservoirs to assure fuel supplies for existing generating plants.

. . . filling storage tanks at generating plants with more than 80 million gallons of fuel oil for use when gas supplies are curtailed.

. . . constructing seven new generating units and planning others which will utilize readily available lignite coal as fuel.

. . . planning, with Dallas Power & Light and Texas Electric Service, construction of a nuclear-fueled generating plant, the first unit of which is expected to be in operation by 1980.

. . . planning to spend more than $250,000,000 in 1975 for construction of new plants and other facilities.

Dependable electric service has been the primary goal of TP&L for more than 62 years. It will continue to be our primary goal in the years ahead.

Baylor Benefit Stars Bob Hope

WACO

Bob Hope's upcoming Waco performance is not being staged merely for entertainment. Purchasing a ticket to the veteran comedian's benefit appearance will help finance some eligible student's education at Baylor University

Sponsored by Baylor's Student Foundation, Hope will appear at 8 p.m. Nov. 15 in Waco's Heart O' Texas (HOT) Coliseum

Student Foundation is a group of 83 outstanding Baylor juniors and seniors who work in the areas of university public relations, student recruitment, and student scholarships.

Steve Buss, current foundation president, said Hope agreed to appear in Waco on behalf of the foundation because "he's very interested in benefit-type work."

"He (Hope) has stated that he's going to dedicate the rest of his life to college students," Buss said. "When we heard that, we wrote to him. He was impressed with the Student Foundation program and accepted our invitation."

Buss said that the Student Foundation "has always wanted" to sponsor a benefit performance featuring a big-neme entertainer.

"We feel fortunate," he said, " to have a person of the magnitude of Bob Hope to come for our first benefit. We 'Hope' to raise enough money through his performance to finance our first endowed scholarship."

Buss said that, if the foundation can sell 10,012 tickets (the seating capacity of HOT Coliseum), the scholarship fund would be boosted by about $60,000.

Tickets for the show are $10, $7.50, $5, and $3.50 and are on sale at Sears, Lake Air Records, and the Student Foundation office at 1311 South Seventh Street on the Baylor campus. Tickets also may be purchased at area banks and home offices of savings and loan associations.

Ticket reservations and more information may be obtained by calling the foundation office at (817) 755-3497.

Rep. Kubiak Commends Land Heritage Families

Rep. Dan Kubiak today commended 2 8 families in District 36 (Falls, Milam and Williamso Counties) who qualified for the Family Land Heritage Program of 1974.

"The Family Land Heritage Program recognizes members of those families in this great state who have owned and worked the same land for at least 100 years," Kubiak said. "In essence, this pays tribute to those who have tilled the soil and harvested the crops, and have herded the livestock, for more than a century.

"The contributions made by these families have been gigantic though we often do not stop to think about it, "Kubiak continued. "But these are the families who have supported this state and nation year-in and year-out with the foods and fibers they produce.

"I salute these families and, here less than two years from the 1976 bicentennial celebration for American, I believe it highly appropriate to take our hats off to these families who have been the cornerstone of our history and our future."

In Milam County, recipients are: Samuel S. Brewer, Oscar Pattillo, John A. Smith, and Mrs. Eula Vaughan, all of Cameron; Robert Bill Gause, Mrs. O. L. Gause Harlan, Mrs. Mary Gause Smith, all of Gause; William H. Camp, Jr. of Thorndale; Mrs. Margaret S. Lomax of New Boston;and Mrs. Mary A. Smither of Huntsville.

The Family Land Heritage Program is sponsored and compiled by the Texas Department of Agriculture. Kubiak said that although qualifying families have been named for 1974, the program would be reopened next year and more families could be considered for the program.

FRED BERGERON

Named To TMA Board

Fred P. Bergeron, Aluminum Company of America's Texas area manager, was elected to the executive board of the Texas Manufacturers Association's executive committee at its annual meeting in Ft. Worth. He was also appointed chairman of TMA's National Affairs Committee.

VA Reminds Vets About Beneficiary

Make certain the right person is beneficiary on your GI insurance policy, is the Veterans Administration reminder to five million veterans covered under its government life insurance program.

Otherwise, you may add to emotional stress of survivors when it is discovered the intended beneficiary was not named on the policy, VA Regional Director Jack Coker explained.

In such cases, VA is obligated by law to pay insurance proceeds to the beneficiary of record. Most of the agency's insureds are World War II veterans who carry National Service Life Insurance.

The problem of insurance benefits going to an unintended recipient arises in most instances because the veteran simply never gets around to changing his beneficiary, Coker said.

DAVE RENFROE

Joins Alcoa

Dave Renfroe has joined Aluminum Company of America's Rockdale Works as a mechanical engineer, according to Mechanical Engineering and Maintenance Manager, Herb Franseen.

The Houston native is a 1972 graduate of Brigham Young University, where he was active in theAmerican Society of Mechanical Engineers and Alpha Phi Omega, a university service organization. He attended the University of Houston

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

Habla espanol? Thousands of Texans do. And for many of these citizens, Spanish is the language preferred for use in business dealings.

So it's sepecially unfortunate, but true, that some merchants use their own facility in Spanish, or the fact that some consumers are less comfortable speaking, reading, or writing in English to operate unscrupulously.

Recently, the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Divison, in cooperation with a West Texas attorney, obtained a court judgment against a real estate firm that was attracting customers with advertisements in Spanish-language newspapers. When contacted by an interested party, however, the firm refused or was unable to sell at the advertised price and terms.

In addition, representatives of the firm failed to deposit earnest money at title companies or banks as they represented to customers they would, and failed to return the money or apply it to real estate purchase.

The firm's representatives also advertised their services as "notarios publicos" and accepted deposits from Mexican aliens to begin processing U. S. immigration papers. Our attorneys took the position that this was a deceptive trade practice, since in Mexico, as in many Spanish speaking countries, a "notario publico" is an attorney or a person specially trained in legal matters.

Although the persons were notaries public, we discovered they were not attorneys or otherwise qualified to practice immigration law in the U. S. and, therefore, they couldn't obtain the necessary papers for their customers.

In another case, a firm operating primarily in the Valley and directing much of their sales efforts toward Spanish speaking migrant workers, has been permanently enjoined from misrepresenting their services. The firm was selling door-to-door what it described as "aseguranza," or insurance, which salesmen assured prospective customers would cover costs involved if they had an automobile wrec k in any state in the country.

In reality, what co[illegible]ers were sold amounted to [illegible]ership in an automobile [illegible], for which the were charged high fees.

Since they sold their services in home solicitations, the company by law should ha ve informed purchasers of their right to cancel any contract for more than $25 within three days by notifying the firm or its salesman in writing.

And, since their sales pitches were usually made in Spanish, any contract or receipt of sale should have included this information in Spanish. The law says contracts or receipts must be in the same language used in the transaction.

My Consumer Protection Division reports that other states have experienced the problem of magazine sales crews descending on barrios and using hard sell appeals in Spanish to obtain subscriptions.

And instances have occured in other states where publishers of so-called "minority" or "ethnic" magazines or newspapers have used long-distance appeals to businessmen in other states for advertising.

The Attorney General's Consumer Protection staff has taken several steps to assure that our Spanish speaking citizens will be able to get consumer protection assistance and information in whichever language they prefer.

SBA Sets Seminar

Is the time right or wrong to go into business? Find out by attending "The Basics of Running a Small Business" seminar on November 19-20, at the University of Houston, Continuing Education Center, from 6 until 9 p.m. each night.

This orientation session is offered bi-monthly, one at night and one during the day, to interested busiessmen or prospective businessmen.

Special interst will be in Recordkeeping, Management, and Business Opportunity.

This co-sponsored program with the University of Houston ad the Small Business Administration discusses the pros and cons of enterng into your own business.

Management Assistance Director, Don Napier, says, "Interest in starting your own business has increased despite the high cost of money."

Tommy Dyches, Management Assistance Officer of SBA, says reservations must be made in advance by calling 226-4945.

Repotting Boosts House Plants

"Healthy, vigorous and beautiful house plants can be grown during the winter months if given a little special care," notes Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extnesion Service.

Plants placed outside for summer color as well as those kept inside should be repotted in fresh, rich soil.

When selecting new pots for house plants, check the drainage they provide. Plants can be grown in porous red clay, glazed crockery or plastic containers as long as they have good drainage, says the Texas A & M University System specialist.

"Select only pots which have neutral colors so they will not detract from the plant. House plants are grown for their attractive flowers and foliage and a gaudy pot can ruin the desired effect," contends Janne.

A contanier that is too large can also detract from the plant, so select the smallest pot that will hold the root system and still support the plant.

Good soil mixtures for house plants are available at florists and garden centers. For only a few plants, Janne suggests premixed and sterilized soil.

"If you prefer to prepare your own soil mixture, use two parts each of soil, shredded peat moss and coarse sand, and one part dried manure. To each bushel, add half cup of 8-8-8 fertilizer and one cup of superphosphate. To sterilize the mixture to kill insects, disease organism, and weed seeds, bake it at 200 degrees F. for one hour," the horticulturist explains.

For a mixture that does not need sterilizing, use two parts each of shredded peat moss, perlite and vermiculite, and one part dried manure. Add one cup each of ground limestone and 5-10-5 fertilizer (or one half cup of 12-12-12) to each bushel.

When preparing the pots, place a piece of broken pottery over the drain hole and add an inch thick layer of fine gravel or crushed stone to promote drainage. In small pots, a half inch layer may be enough.

To get the plant out of the old pot, invert the pot, hold the stem base between two fingers, tap the pot rim on a table edge and let the soil and roots fall into your palm.

After removing the outer inch or more of the root ball to provide space for new rich soil, center the plant in the pot. Pack the soil firmly around the root ball, creating a downward slope from the stem to the pot edge. This will cause surface water to move away from the stem and reduce the possibility of rot. The soil level should be at least one half inch below the rim of the pot.

"The final step is to remove any dead, diseased, or broken leaves and branches," says Janne. "Cut back long stems to give the plant a compact, natural shape."

The Housing And Community Development Act Of 1974 Details of Act/How Process Works etc.

In late summer of 1974, the Housing & Comm.unity Development Act of 1974 was signe d into law. The Act is the final result of several years of effort by the Administration, Congress, and cities to si plify, streamline a consolidate various community development programs.

Congress stated that the block grants were for support of community development activities directed toward the specific objectives of: (1) eliminating slums and blight and preventing the deterioration of property and community facilities of importance to the welfare of the community; (2) eliminating conditions which are detrimental to health, safety, and public welfare, through code enforcement, demolition, rehabilitation, and related activities: (3) conserving and expanding the nation's housing stock; (4) expanding and improving the quality of community services, principally for persons of low and moderate income; (5) more rationally utilizing land and other national resources and better arranging residential, commercial, industrial, recreational, and other needed activity centers; (6) reducing the isolation of income groups within communities and geographical areas and promoting an increase in the diversity and vitality of neighborhoods by expanding housing opportunities for housing persons of lower income and revitalizing neighborhoods that have deteriorated to attract persons of higher income; and

(7) restoring and preserving propeties of special value for historic, architecture or esthetic reasons.

ELIGIBLE ACTIVITIES

Community Development programs to be assisted by funds provided under this Act may only include as eligible activities;

(1) acquisition of real property (including air and water rights and other interests) which is (a) blighted, deteriorating, undeveloped or inappropriately developed; (b) appropriate for preservation or restoration of historic sites, beautification of urban land, conservation of open spaces, natural resources and scenic areas, provision of recreational opportunities or the guideance of urban development; (d) to be used for the provision of public works, facilities, and improvements that are themselves eligible for assistance; or (e) to be used for other public purposes. (2) acquisition, construction, reconstruction or installation of public works facilities and site or other improvements:

(3) code enforcement in deteriorating areas in which such enforcement, together with other public improvements and services, may be expected to arrest the decline of the area.

(4) clearance, demolition, removal, and rehabilitation of buildings and improvem ents;

(5) special projects to remove material and architectural barriers which restrict mobility and accessibility of elderly and handicapped persons;

(6) payments to housing owners for losses of rental income incurred in holding housing units to be utilized for the relocation of persons displaced by community development program activities;

(7) disposition (through sale, lease, donation, or otherwise) of any real property acquired as a part of the community development program of the retention of such property for public purposes:

(8) provision of necessary or appropriate public service not otherwise available to the concentrated community development area, if such services are appropriate to support other approved program activities and if aid for such services has been sought and denied or not made available within a reasonable period of time under other federal programs. These services must be directed toward(s) improving the community's public services (including those concerned with employment, crime prevention, economic development, child care, health, drug abuse, education, welfare or recreation) and (b) coordinating public and private development programs;

(9) payment of the non-federal share required in a federal grant-in-aid program undertaken as part of the community development program;

(10) payment of cost of completing existing urban renewal projects;

(11) relocation payments and assistance for persons, businesses, organizations and farm operations displaced by community development program activities;

(12) activities necessary (a) to develop a comprehensive community development plan and (b) to develop a policy-planning-management capacity to assist the recipient in rationally and effectively determining needs, setting goals and objectives, and devising and evaluating programs and activities; and

(13) payment of reasonable administrative costs related to the planning and execution of community development and housing activities, including the cost of providing residents of areas of concentrated activities with information and resources related to the planning and execution of such activities.

FUNDING

In order to achieve these purposes and goals, the Congress has authorized that up to $8.4 billion be appropriated through fiscal year 1977.

APPLICATION AND REVIEW REQUIREMENTS

There will be an annual application requirement. HUD will have 75 days to review the application;

Each application must include a Housing Assistance Plan which accurately surveys the condition of the housing stock in the community and assesses housing assistance needs of lower income persons residing in or expected to reside in the community.

As a final aspect of the application the applicant must provide satisfactory assurances that the program will be conducted in conformity with applicable civil rights laws and that prior to the submission of the application, the applicant has (a) provided citizens likely to be affected by the proposed community development and housing activities with adequate information concerning the program, (b) held public hearings to obtain such citizens' views on the community development and housing needs, and (c) provided such citizens an adequate opportunity to participate in the development of the application.

YOE TROMPS MUSTANGS

In terrible field condition the Yoemen were able to tromp past the Manor Mustangs with a 28-0 win. In the opening quarter the Yoemen were unable to condition themselves to the muddy, slick, and sloppy turf conditions and were able to tally only one first down. Kopriva kicked-off and sailed the ball 43 yards and right through Jerome Jenning's hands and Gary Hornung recovered the ball for the Yoemen.

The Yoemen were unable to capatailize on the error and were forced to punt.

The Yoemen, o n their second possession of the ball, were able to score and gain their only 1st down. On a 2nd down and 5 from the 20 yard line, Willie Bell went over left tackle and scored for the Yoemen. The clock showed only 57 seconds remaining in the opening quarter. Joey Mondrik on his PAT try failed as the ball went wide to the left. Joe Smitherman and Gary Hornung did a fine job in holding the Mustangs to only 29 yards rushing and one first down in the 1st quarter.

With 10:24 left in the second quarter, the Yoemen started a drive that took 9 plays and covered 54 yards for the second touchdown of the cold night. From four yards out on a second down play starting QB Randy Sapp handed off to Gene Kopriva who went in standing. On a fake 1 point conversion, Joey Mondrik passed to Jafus White who was standing alone for the 2.

The deepest field position for the Mustangs during the first half was to their own 29 yard line. The tough Yoe defense would not allow the Mustangs any running room throughout the first two quarters. Sapp did not attempt to go to the air and relied on the determined running of Bell, Kopriva, and Daniels in the first half.

On the first possession of the second half, the Yoemen contained the ball for 5:03 minutes and in 11 offensive plays. utes and in 11 offensive plays resulting in the third Yoe touchdown. It came on Sapp's first pass attempt of the night when Ronnie Bennett grabbed the pigskin and ran 13 yards for the six points. Joey Mondrik, the experienced PAT specialist, put the ball through the uprights to make the score 21-0. In the third quarter Manor was still unable to position themselves in any offensive threat. They had eight offensive plays in the third quarter against the Yoemen 19. The Mustangs deepest penetration was to their Fine defensive action in the quarter by Kelvin Kelley, Joe Smitherman, and Joey Mondrik contained the Mustangs as they rambled in all direction looking for a way to penetrate the mighty Yoe defense.

The fourth quarter of the contest turned out to be the most exciting of the night. With 8:48 left in the game, sophomore Brian Wilkinson got the call from 1 yard out on a second down play. Wilkinson found a big hole provided by Joe Smitherman the right tackle and touched in for the six. The score advanced to 28-0 by the extra point with power provided by Mondrik.

On a first down play on the Manor 12, Kopriva lost control and fumbled, and recovered by Bubba W defensive tackle. The M guided their way down t oe 5 inch line. On a l down play with only 20 s for the touchdown, Greg McMahan, QB, on a keeper was unable to put it through. The clock soon ran out and the muddy contest ended with the Yoemen showing their offensive scoring ability and with the mighty Yoe defense held their opponents scoreless.

HORNETS STING R'BUD-LOTT, 38-0

The Caldwell Hornets found an easy victory Friday night on their home field, against the Rosebud-Lott Cougars. The Hornet defense held the Cougars to 84 yards rushing without a penetration in Caldwell country and the final score was 38-0.

In the first quarter, John Ayers, the Hornet halfback went off tackle and 56 yards for the first Hornet touchdown. On the wet turf, Ayers found the blocking and rushed past the Cougar defense. Jerry Harrison, the leading runner for the Hornets on a successful run over the center for the 2 point conversion.

The first quarter ended with the Hornets in command in the contest 8-0. During the quarter Jerry Harrison was credited with fine defense, stopping the Cougars efforts during their offensive series.

During the early minutes of the second quarter, Carl Esparza, the Hornet halfback, went around the right end for 25 yards that resulted in the second touchdown. Point after try for one failed.

Tommy Garbs, QB, went to the air two times during the night and in the second quarter completed one for a touchdown. Garbs threw to his right and completed the pass to Horace Jackson the split-end for the 29 yard touchdown play. The 2 point conversion try was unsuccessful.

The first half ended with the Hornets buzzing as they cut their path open in their bid to represent District 23 AA in Bi-District action.

In a powerful run early in the second half, Jerry Harrison cut up the center and went 85 yards for the third Hornet touchdown. The PAT for 2 failed. Harrison accounted for 219 yards that put him past the 1000 yard mark for his second year in a row.

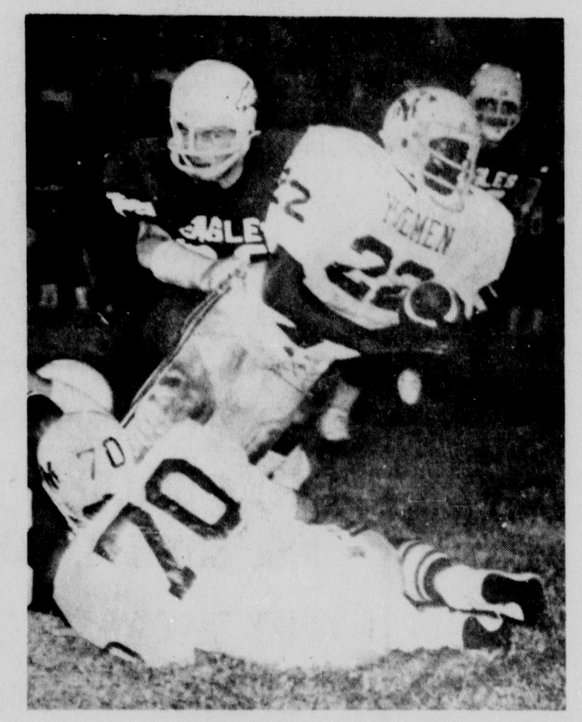
Garbs called for Harrison to take the pigskin up the middle and Harrison did what he does best; run, run, and run. He ran for 82 yards and a touchdown over left tackle. A kick for the one point conversion fell short of the mark. The third quarter ended with the Hornets in control, 32-0.

Caldwell was only forced to punt twince in the game and in the fourth quarter, the Hornets took the ball across the goal line one time.

David Wolz had the honors to score the final touchdown when he went off tackle for a seven yard run. The PAT failed.

The defensive standouts for the Hornets was Jerry Harrison who is averaging over 21 tackles per ballgame besides being one for the finest fullbacks in one state. Glen Hughs and Andrew Jackson were also sited as being defensive standouts in the sound victory over Rosebud-Lott.

In the final game of the season Caldwell will meet Elgin in their quest for the district title.



MOVING ON! Willie Bell, No. 22 in the Yoemen vs Hearne game accounted for 290 yards rushing and drive in four touchdowns. The combination of blocking by Yoe Offensive line and the running of the backs are something to see -- and the deOense has only one touchdown scored on them in district play. (Photo by Mike Peck)

IRS Offers New Tax Assistance

Temple area taxpayers with federal tax questions too complex to work out by telephone can now get individual assistance at the local Internal Revenue Service office.

The IRS has announced that a specially trained Taxpayer Sevice Representative will be on hand in the office which is located in the First National Bank Building, 16-20 South Main, on Monday and Tuesday of each week starting Nov. 4.

Donald G. Carrico, IRS Director's Representative here, noted that Taxpayer Service Representatives Mary Franklin and Raymond LaFaitte of the Austin IRS office will share the assignment.

"The schedule calls for one of the TSR's to be available from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Mondays and 7:45 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Tuesdays", he said.

Carrico said he expects most taxpayers to continue calling IRS for help with tax problems because "the new toll free service has made it so convenient."

Local Church Will Host Assembly

The autumn board meeting of the Lincoln Baptist District Assciation of which Dr. M. L. Price of Houston is moderator, will open on Wednesday morning November 13, at the Cameron Grove Baptist Church of Cameron of which the Rev. L. L. V. Jones is the host pastor at 9 o'clock.

The assembly will be the first official meeting of the governing body of the association since its 103rd annual session in July at the New Hope Baptist Church of Rockdale, pastored by Rev. L. M. Murray of Marlin. Financial secretary of the board is Rev. H. Boykins, pastor of the Corinth Baptist Church of Temple.

More than 125 members of the board representing all auxiliaries of the parent body be in Cameron. Member churches of the association are located in the area of Central, East, and South Texas.

Dr. Price, the moderator, who also serves as the president of the Missionary Baptist General Convention of Texas--the largest Negro organization in Texas--which met in the Abilene Convention Center at Abilene, recently urged pastors of the association to intnesify their efforts supporting the million dollar drive for Bishop College of Dallas--the largest Negro church related institution in texas.

Plans for the 1975 annual meeting of the association which will be held in Galveston in early July prior to the World Baptist Alliance at Stockholm, Sweden, will be discussed.

Retaining Walls Use Posts, Planks

A retaining wall for yard or garden can be built with 4x4-inch posts and 2x10-inch planks of preservative-treated western wood. Posts should be anchored to braces set into the bank.

Gravel and drain tile below and behind the base of the wall are important for water runoff. Local building departments should be checked as some areas require permits for retaining walls.

A garden slope can be terraced using 2x8s as step risers, set in with stakes every 12 inches and filled with pea gravel or concrete as treads.

IRS Offers New Tax Assistance

Temple area taxpayers with federal tax questions too complex to work out by telephone can now get individual assistance at the local Internal Revenue Service office.

The IRS has announced that a specially trained Taxpayer Sevice Representative will be on hand in the office which is located in the First National Bank Building, 16-20 South Main, on Monday and Tuesday of each week starting Nov. 4.

Donald G. Carrico, IRS Director's Representative here, noted that Taxpayer Service Representatives Mary Franklin and Raymond LaFaitte of the Austin IRS office will share the assignment.

"The schedule calls for one of the TSR's to be available from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Mondays and 7:45 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Tuesdays", he said.

Carrico said he expects most taxpayers to continue calling IRS for help with tax problems because "the new toll free service has made it so convenient."

Local Church Will Host Assembly

The autumn board meeting of the Lincoln Baptist District Assciation of which Dr. M. L. Price of Houston is moderator, will open on Wednesday morning November 13, at the Cameron Grove Baptist Church of Cameron of which the Rev. L. L. V. Jones is the host pastor at 9 o'clock.

The assembly will be the first official meeting of the governing body of the association since its 103rd annual session in July at the New Hope Baptist Church of Rockdale, pastored by Rev. L. M. Murray of Marlin. Financial secretary of the board is Rev. H. Boykins, pastor of the Corinth Baptist Church of Temple.

More than 125 members of the board representing all auxiliaries of the parent body be in Cameron. Member churches of the association are located in the area of Central, East, and South Texas.

Dr. Price, the moderator, who also serves as the president of the Missionary Baptist General Convention of Texas--the largest Negro organization in Texas--which met in the Abilene Convention Center at Abilene, recently urged pastors of the association to intnesify their efforts supporting the million dollar drive for Bishop College of Dallas--the largest Negro church related institution in texas.

Plans for the 1975 annual meeting of the association which will be held in Galveston in early July prior to the World Baptist Alliance at Stockholm, Sweden, will be discussed.

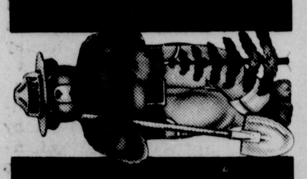
THINK



In the thirty years that Smokey Bear has been telling us to be careful with fire, we've cut the number of forest fires we start in half.

But we still start over 100,000 careless fires every year.

Someday, one of two things will happen, and Smokey will stop reminding us to be careful: Either there won't be any more forest fires, or there won't be any more forests.

It's up to you.

Series Of Christmas Workshops To Be Held

On Monday, November 11, a series of six Christmas workshops will begin at the Waco Creative Art Center. The classes, which will be held from 7-9 p.m. on Monday and Thursday evenings through December 5, will offer instruction in a variety of handcrafted decoration, cards and wrapping paper.

The classes will be taught by the Art Center's professional staff and by individuals with special skills in certain of the crafts being offered. The chairman of the workshop is Anne Uno and the instructors include Barbara Barker, Harriet Hayward, Dorothy Kendrick, Kay King, Linda McNamara, Eugenie Mygdal, and Rosemary Townsend.

The workshops are organized so that a different program is offered each week. Mrs. Uno explained that the same activities will be presented on Monday and Thursday of each week.

She said, "Three to five stations of activities, with an individual instructor, will be set up for each session and the participants may move freely from one activity to another according to their interest. Those who desire further participation will enjoy attending both sessions."

On November 11 and 14 the activities will include instruction in making Christmas cards, wrapping paper and wall hangings. Creche sculpture, bread ornaments, and cornhusk dolls will be the projects for November 18 and 21. On December 2 and 5 tin ornaments, Origami, Ojos de Dios, pinatos and cookie decoration will be offered.

During the workshops a display area will be set up at the Art Center to give interested persons an opportunity to see examples of the various crafts.

The fee for each workshop is $2 per person per night and may be paid at the door before each class. Limited materials will be supplied by the Art Center.

Dinner With Music Honors New Pastor

St. Monica's parishioners welcomed Father Donald Sawyer as assistant pastor on Sunday, Nov. 3.

Clothing Drive Set By Ladies

A Thanksgiving clothing drive was discussed and planned during the meeting of St. Monica's Ladies on Nov. 5. A bake sale will be held to raise funds to be sent to the "Brothers and Sisters of Mexico" on Nov. 15.

This year's Thanksgiving Ecumenical Services will be held at St. Monica's Catholic Church on Sunday, Nov. 24.

The next deanry meeting will be held in Temple on Wednesday, Nov. 20. Anyone who wants to attend the meeting should contact Mrs. Eugene Mitchan.

St. Monica Ladies Host Prayer Day

St. Monica's Ladies were hosts for the Church Women United World Day of Prayer on Friday, Nov. 1. Theme for the World Day of Prayer was "Discover the Aspiring Majority."

All the women joined together in prayer and song. Father Donald Sawyer, assistant pastor at St. Monica's, gave an inspiring homily during the service.

Brownies Receive Pins At Ceremony

An Investiture Ceremony was held Tuesday night at the Cameron Community Center for Brownie Troop 668. All members of this troop are first graders.

The Brownies opened the ceremony with the pledge of allegiance and sang "America". They recited the Brownie Promise, the Brownie B's and sang the Brownie Promise song, at which time they received their pins. The girls closed the program singing "Friends" in the round and "The Brownie Smile Song."

Refreshments of cookies and punch were served to the parents and guests.

Leader of Troop 668 is Mrs. Monroe Fuchs. Assistant leaders are Mrs. Litt Barrett and Mrs. Seth Dockery.

Sr. Citizens To Meet Tuesday

Senior Citizens will meet for their regular monthly get together Tuesday, November 11, with all area senior citizens invited to attend. The meetings are held in the Cameron Community Center.

Activity will begin with a coffee at 10 a.m. At 10:30, Mrs. Vivian Pittman of the County Extension office will offer a program.

A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon.

After lunch, Mrs. Inez Angell will discuss with senior citizens the possibility of their assisting in preparing a doll collection to be put on display later here in Cameron.

This will be followed by games.
